Mr Baird,
The so called science to support profiteering from our conservation areas is highly questionable.

We have so few areas left where native and threatened species and flora still have a foothold.
Please prevent logging and burning in the Nandewar and Brigalo areas.

I am so saddened to see the profit motive dressed up as sound ecological management, often by both sides of politics. Our country is disgraced by being the current world leader in the loss of species. Our native aborigines never burned these areas. They were designated as conservation areas to conserve them not to exploit them.

Sincerely yours,
Christine Buckridge
