Dear NSW Forest Assessors,

Victoria has started to protect its Red Gums so why not NSW. It would be a shame if the NSW government started looking like something that should be operating down in Tasmania with its crooked connections to the logging 'mafia'. Please don't help Labor look like the exploit-at-any-price Liberals and Nationals.

Please protect the Red Gum forests - they've been butchered and abused for far too long. Every day that more are cut down is huge crime against that country and its wildlife.

Sincerely,
Barry Jackson
