

From: Ron & Joyce Webster
Sent: Friday, 23 October 2009 5:27 PM
To: Avtar Singh
Subject: Save the Red Gums.

We are asking the Natural Resources Commission to please include some of the Red Gum forests in new National Parks. Please protect these vulnerable ecosystems which are vital refuges for plants and animals in this period of rapid climate change.

We would like to see Aboriginal ownership of the new National Parks wherever sought by the traditional owners.

National Parks are crucial to preserve the resilience of the ecosystems, and more environmental water flows are needed to ensure the health of the Red Gums in the future.

Yours sincerely

Ron Webster